

Book Study Tips and Tricks

Each manager will approach team preparation differently. These are just suggestions designed to share ideas and strategies.

Take notes on the books while reading. This will help to learn the material while reading and will also provide you with a useful study sheet.

Prepare study aides such as notes, flashcards, lists, etc.

Make a list of the characters, major and minor. List all the things team members know about the characters (attributes, actions, etc.)

Make a list of the important settings in the books and what the readers know about each place (home, country, state, etc.)

Make a list of all the important events in the book.

Review the plot and sub-plots of the book.

Have team members write their own questions and answers. They can quiz their teammates.

Make sure team members know the authors and titles of the books.
